HC DIRECTS POLICE RECRUITMENT BOARD

‘Keep 1 post vacant for transgender candidate’

Aditi Raja
Vadodara, October 12

A TRANSGENDER candidate's challenge to the Gujarat Police recruitment process, which she says forced her to apply under the female category, has brought the absence of a separate third-gender category under judicial scrutiny, with the Gujarat High Court (HC) directing the recruitment board to keep one post vacant pending further hearing.

Justice Aniruddha P Mayee passed the interim order on October 8 – made available on Monday – while hearing a petition filed by Lakhi Mayada, 35, from Bhavnagar, who has challenged the absence of a separate category and selection criteria for transgender candidates in recruitment for Police Sub-Inspector and Lokrakshak, Class III posts.

“Prima facie, it appears that in the present recruitment process, transgender have not been categorised as third gender and no special category or criteria for recruitment has been laid down for them,” the court observed, directing the Gujarat Police Recruitment Board to keep one post vacant pending the petition.

Mayada, who holds an identity certificate issued by the Bhavnagar District Magistrate under the Transgender Persons (Protection of Rights) Act, 2019, applied for the posts after the recruitment advertisement was issued on December 3, 2025. The advertisement provided only two categories – male and female.

According to the petition filed through Advocate Hannan Qureshi, Mayada contacted the recruitment board to clarify how a transgender candidate should fill in the application. The board's office allegedly advised her to apply according to the gender recorded on her Aadhaar card. Acting on that advice, she applied under the SEBC-Female category on December 4, 2025.

She subsequently cleared the physical standard and physical efficiency tests held on January 31, 2026, without objection from the authorities. In the written examination, she secured 43.5 marks in Part A and 50.5 in Part B, taking her total to 94. The cut-off for the SEBC-Female category was 98.5 marks, leaving her ineligible for document verification.

Mayada submitted a representation to the recruitment board on July 17, seeking a separate cut-off and result process for transgender candidates. The petition states that she received no written response, prompting her to approach the High Court.

Her petition argues that restricting the recruitment process to male and female categories violates the constitutional guarantees of equality, non-discrimination and dignity. It relies on the Supreme Court's 2014 judgment, which recognised transgender persons as a third gender and set out protections for their rights.

The petition contends that transgender candidates cannot be compelled to identify as male or female simply because the application form offers only those options. It also argues that Mayada should not be disadvantaged by the very classification she says she was instructed to use by the recruiting authority.

“The petitioner does not seek appointment de hors the recruitment rules or any relaxation which would compromise the standards prescribed for the post,” the petition states.

Shelter home in child cruelty row says it ‘acted promptly against caregiver’

Parimal A Dabhi
Ahmedabad, October 12

DAYS AFTER the police in Gujarat booked the caregiver of a children's shelter home in Bhuj, SOS Children's Village, for alleged cruelty to children, the NGO has stated that it removed her from caregiving responsibilities the next day after learning about the incident.

The caregiver, Latifa Begum, faces allegations of verbally abusing children in her care and even hurling human excreta at their faces. The shelter home has 130 children.

SOS Children's Villages India said in a statement on Monday that “the concerns first came to light” after the children shared their experiences with a teacher at a school it runs.

The statement further read, “Following the receipt of information regarding the alleged incident on 24 June 2026, the concerned caregiver was removed from caregiving responsibilities on 25 June 2026 and instructed to have no contact with the children. The caregiver

The shelter home said, “Following the receipt of information regarding the alleged incident, the caregiver was removed from responsibilities and instructed to have no contact with the children” was subsequently transferred to the National Training Centre in Faridabad on 30 June 2026. An initial fact-finding investigation was completed on 25 June 2026, followed by a further investigation on 27 June 2026.”

The Madhapar police in Kutch West registered the FIR against Begum after District Child Protection Officer Vipul Kumar Doriya filed a complaint based on statements made by the children at the shelter home before him.

Doriya alleged that although the NGO conducted an internal inquiry, it made no decision or filed a police complaint.

Giving a chronological account of developments related to the incident, the NGO said, “Professional counselling support for the children commenced on 26 June 2026, and medical examinations were conducted on 29 June 2026. The Child Welfare Committee was informed on 28 June 2026, and a detailed fact-finding report was submitted to the Child Welfare Committee and the District Child Protection Unit on 7 July 2026.”

The NGO said it issued a showcase notice on August 3 and a chargesheet on August 27, before launching a priority inquiry on October 5.

Begum received five sessions of psychological counselling and appropriate medical support in keeping with the NGO's “commitment to employee welfare and fair treatment”, according to the statement.

Morbi bridge collapse: Victims’ families move SC, seek higher compensation

A body representing the families has challenged HC's decision to let civil courts decide claims for exemplary damages

Aditi Raja
Vadodara, October 12

NEARLY FOUR years after the Morbi bridge collapse killed 135 people in Gujarat, the fight for compensation is far from over. A victims’ association has now approached the Supreme Court, challenging the Gujarat High Court’s decision to leave claims for exemplary damages to civil courts. The petition contends that bereaved families should not have to endure years of litigation to secure adequate compensation.

The Tragedy Victims Association Morbi and Dilipbhai Chavada, whose brother died in the October 30, 2022, disaster, moved a Special Leave Petition on October 7 challenging the Gujarat High Court’s orders of June 12 and August 21, passed in its suo motu proceedings into the collapse.

Advocate Utkarsh Dave, who is representing the families, said the petitioners have sought exemplary damages of around Rs 2 crore for each death and urged the Supreme Court to hold the Morbi Municipality financially liable alongside Ajanta Manufacturing Pvt Ltd, which operates under the Orevia Group, holding the operation and maintenance contract for the bridge. They contend that both the municipal authorities and the bridge operator were found responsible for the tragedy and should be held jointly liable for the consequences.

What HC said

In its August 21 judgment, the Gujarat High Court brought its suo motu proceedings to a close after overseeing a compensation framework for victims and their dependants, including recurring financial support through a trust set up by Orevia. However, on June 12, it had rejected a plea for exemplary compensation, observing that deciding such claims would require a factual inquiry beyond the scope of the proceedings.

The bridge collapse in 2022 killed 135 people. FILE

The court said affected persons could approach civil courts to seek exemplary compensation for the dead victims’ dependants and injured survivors. The petitioners have challenged that approach, arguing that the High Court proceedings had already established responsibility for the disaster and that families should not be forced to pursue separate, prolonged civil suits.

The association has 76 members, including family members of 71 of the 110 dead victims and five survivors who were injured. According to the petition, 56 members associated with 81 dead victims do not qualify for recurring support under the existing framework because they do not fall within the specified categories, such as widows, orphaned children or elderly parents.

The petition says several affected families have received a one-time compensation of Rs 15 lakh, with a further Rs 5 lakh to be paid after five years. But it argues that the existing framework leaves out other relatives who have suffered the loss, including siblings, spouses, parents below the prescribed age and other dependants.

“It is submitted that 56 members of the Petitioner-Association (which comprises family members of 81 dead victims) are not receiving any recurring compensation because of the restrictive nature of the categorisations made by the Hon’ble High Court. These 56 members are related to the dead persons inter alia as their husband, brother, father/mother (aged less than 50), grandfather, and uncle. Thus, most of the Petitioners have only received a one-time compensation of Rs 15 Lakhs, with another Rs 5 Lakhs to be paid after 5 years...” the petition states.

To support its demand for higher compensation, the association has relied on the Supreme Court’s principles for calculating motor accident compensation in Sarla Verma v. Delhi Transport Corporation.

“It is submitted that even if compensation is determined using the multiplier-based formula... the compensation amount for each dead person, on an average, would come to about Rs 1.28 crore. It is important to note that this calculation is based on the principle of compensation alone, not exemplary damages, punitive damages or negative restitution. The amount of exemplary damages would have to be arrived at by multiplying this figure with a factor of at least 2 or 3. It is on this basis that the (petitioner) had prayed for exemplary damages of around Rs 2 crore per dead victim,” the petition states.
